

Can CALIFORNIA's Governing Problems Be Fixed?

Is a
Constitutional Convention
the answer to
California's problem?

Town Hall Forum on California Government Reform

Over the last decade, Californians have observed how the State sunk into deeper financial problems, impacting all aspects of life in the State, including decreased funding for education and safety net services, and the overall decline of the State's infrastructure. Some observers believe that the State is running out of time and that the only way to avoid a further decline is to bring about radical change through a Constitutional convention.
